THE KEMP SPREADER

The Manure Hap is the Farmer's Bank." No farmer can afford waste a single load of it by applying to the field without the KEMP SPREADER. It will repay its cost every year with increased crops and saving labor. When farms are small, club together; it will spread over half a dozen small farms. Don't let another season pass without buying a KEMP SPREADER. It is now one of the staunchest and strongest of machines, and the most reliable.

S. B.
(TRADE MARK.)

Many farmers prefer Bone and Potash to anything else for seeding down. We therefore would attract particular attention to our "Square" Brand of bone and potash. We have all the bone produced at the where manure or cattle, sheep and calves are slaughtered daily. It contains all the highest quality of FRESH BONE, as it is dried and ground within twelve hours after the animals are slaughtered. It therefore much superior to the so-called "pure bone" that is made from the weathered and bleached bones that are picked up here and there, or bone from which the glue (the leather portion) has been extracted. Such bone may be more acceptable to the eye, but for fertilizer purposes it is worth much less than that which is obtained from every day from the slaughter houses. To the above we add potash which as everyone knows is a very important ingredient of all plants, especially grasses.

BROWER'S FINE GROUND BONE, which is the above bone without the addition of potash,

STOCKBRIDGE SEEDING DOWN MANURE, a fertilizer prepared especially for seed
